

Snooper for 68th NSDCA Camporee

Hello Campers!

I had hoped to be at the Camporee by Tuesday, but if you were watching the weather you may have noticed that the areas around I-35 and I-10 in Texas were both under Flash Flood Warnings. These are highways I would have taken to get here from South Texas, so I used "an abundance of caution" and waited until today. We are now parked and made it in time for the Grand March.

Pam German sent me these pictures from the dancing on Tuesday (which we missed):

Happy
250th
Birthday
America

Looking forward to sending some more photos from tonight's dance.

Just a bit of humor... This area in Texas is currently under a High Heat Advisory. Yes, it's hot! But I couldn't help but notice this sign posted in the hall:

PLEASE DO NOT TURN
THE HEATERS
OFF

No, the heaters aren't running, the sign is still up from winter.

I'll get more information and photos out early tomorrow. Don't forget there will be donuts available in the hall between 8 and 9 AM. 🍩 🍩

Steve House